

Safety Tip of the Week

Shortcuts Are a Choice

The decision to take a shortcut can be influenced by many different factors. At the end of the day, shortcuts are a choice made by an individual.

It is important to realize this fact and take steps to avoid taking shortcuts especially when it comes to safety on the job.

Ways to Avoid Taking Shortcuts:

- Hold yourself to a higher standard. Do not take the easy way out. Take the time and energy to perform tasks correctly. Make it a habit to follow safety policies and procedures.
- Help set up the expectation that shortcuts are unacceptable when it comes to safety. If coworkers see you taking shortcuts, they are more likely to do so themselves.
- Realize that shortcuts affect more than just you. They can result in negative impacts on production, and cause property damage as well as injuries.
- In facing a perceived time pressure, evaluate whether it is a self-imposed time pressure. Many times, individuals put pressure on themselves to perform a task faster when there is no real outside pressure to get a work task completed.
- Pre-plan work tasks well ahead of time so the necessary tools, training, personnel, safety equipment, time, etc. are available. Having all the necessary items for work tasks can help to avoid the urge to take shortcuts.

To boil it all down, taking shortcuts is just an individual choice. Sure, there are many factors that affect whether an individual will make the choice to do so, but it is ultimately a choice that is made.
